SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE

Unicourt provides highly competitive sports activities for people of all ages:

- ▶ Put the Unicourt net up and play Volleyball, Badminton, Paddle Tennis, Pickleball, Action Tennis, and Soft Tennis.
- ▶ Take the net down and play basketball, no goalie soccer and floor hockey.
- ▶ Add markings to the boundary areas and play hopscotch, shuffleboard, four square and other floor games.
- ▶ Use the rebounder net to practice tennis, racquetball, handball, soccer and baseball.
- ▶ Use the Unicourt surface for exercise workouts, aerobic dancing, jump rope, skate boarding, social dancing and parties

Use your imagination, because Unicourt is meant to be used!

Short court sports:

Three of the net sports included in the Unicourt Game Pac package are recommended by the U.S. Tennis Association for play where space is limited. The three are Action Tennis, Paddle Tennis, and Pickle Ball. All these "short court" net sports are easy to learn (rules are provided). All games stress fast paced rally action the fun part of tennis. All can be played as singles or doubles, at several different skill levels.

Action Tennis is regular Tennis on a compact scale with full size fun. You just use shorter racquets and a less "bouncy" ball all provided in the Unicourt Game Pac. Otherwise, the game follows the rules of regular tennis Some people think it's more fun.

Paddle Tennis as you might guess is a sport like Tennis that's played with wooden paddles. Under its rules, you're allowed only one serve, underhand, and the ball must bounce once before anyone can return it.

Only about 20 some years old, Pickle Ball has caught on in university sport programs. It's played with paddles, a perforated plastic ball, a low net, and great enthusiasm. Strategy and patience are more important in Pickleball than brute power, so it's a natural equalizer for different age, sex, and strength.
